Arts Complex, Kumara Krupa Road, Bengaluru - 560 001, India.

From 6th January to 10th January 2014 at Chitrakala Parishath, Bengaluru

ABOUT THE ART AND GROUP

THE TRIANGULAR BOND, a group of painters of different shapes in a cue resents themselves before the viewers of an unbound area of cultural interactions. The artists of this group are Anup Sankar Paul, Alok Roy, Bilash Debnath, Alok Roy, Debendranath Laha, Gopinath Basu, Kajori Ghosal, Noni Gopal Biswas, Stuty Laha, Susanta Das, Subhendu Biswas & Tanmay Biswas. All twelve members of this group are of course formally modern in outlook yet caring Indian heritage. Thus their works have become blending of the time and the tradition. All genuine artists are really truthful to their reaction to the world they traveled with their conviction. The reflection may be found in the canvass of this entire group. As the artist often do not like to consider the academic custom in their practice. The group is an example in this regard of course. It is also true that great art pieces are often created by breaking the rules. But the group believes that the ultimate touch stone to the art is the viewers so they will give last judgment.
